

A lawyer, a member of Local 52
and a caribou walk into a bar...

Wait! Caribou don't belong in bars, but you belong to the ASEA Legal Services Plan!

Trouble with your landlord?

Negotiating a payment plan for a loan or a credit card?

Going through a divorce or getting married?

Your ASEA Legal Services Plan will pay up to $2,500 in attorney fees per Plan Year to help with qualified legal services like these—and many others!

Using your benefits is easy. If you are an ASEA member for whom the State of Alaska makes contributions to the Legal Services Plan, you are automatically eligible. Plus, your dependents may also be eligible!

When you need legal services all you need to do is:

- Call our Administration Office at 866-678-8647 to check your eligibility, or go to asealegalservices.org/eligibility to make sure that the legal services you need are covered by the Plan.
- Select an attorney from the list of participating attorneys at asealegalservices.org/attorney. These attorneys have agreed to limit their fees to the hourly rate our Plan will pay. You can use any qualified U.S. attorney, but if a non-participating attorney charges more than the plan's hourly rate, you must pay the difference.
- Print out the Claim Form and bring it with you when you visit your attorney. Your attorney will sign and submit the form to the Legal Services Plan Administration Office, along with an itemized bill for the services you received.

Visit asealegalservices.org today to explore your benefits. You could start using your annual benefit of $2,500 in qualified legal services today!
